The video was uploaded in Oct 2013. You might be thinking about some Korean dramas, but this video has nothing to do with them. The Korean songs are very popular and i think it's one of the best songs in the world. The whole video is just so cool that i have to make a post about it. If you like the music, you can listen to it in the link below. Thanks. Have you ever had a confusing situation where you are not sure who to call, and you feel like the answer might be the best if you ask in the community instead of directly calling the company? Well, the community of the company named "Ask", (a place where the people ask questions to the people) already has its own terms and experiences. That is the reason why I wrote this post. You can also go to the community's website if you want. Thanks to the fast food success, the restaurant has spread all over Korea. It is pretty famous for its "Wok you" and variety of sandwiches. "Wok you" is a Korean BBQ sandwich which is a delicious combination of grilled meat and fries on the bread. The fat, meat, and sauces are mixed in a different form and shape. Also, the "Wok you" menu has various toppings and tastes. "Wok you" means "the taste of the grill", it is the name of the restaurant itself. So this is a post from the Ask. It is about various complaints from customers in Korea, what they want to improve and what they are the biggest problems from the company. You can find this Ask through the link below. Ask is an English website for customer service from the biggest companies. The company gathers questions from the customers. It answers the questions, but it is important that you read the full answer carefully because it is not the representative from the company. You can find the answer from the Ask website, if you are not sure. "Cereal bars are mainly sold in convenience stores and groceries in Japan. In Japan, large stores for example supermarkets do not have cereal bars for kids in their shelves, as they are not popular products." That is the quote from his article. The trend of the cereal bars in
