

For the first time ever, players can attempt to beat the system using the skill and precision of an in-game shooting mechanic, which now allows users to control the ball using any part of their body. Furthermore, new modes such as FUT Champions (released today), MOTD Pro Evolution Soccer, FUT 22 World Cup and FUT 22 Quick Fire have been added to FIFA Ultimate Team. The FIFA Ultimate Team mode, already the world's biggest community-based football competition, is a free-to-play world of team building, competition and friendship in which every player is unique. The most comprehensive team-building tool in football, the FIFA Ultimate Team mode allows players to become top-rated pros and captains of the world's most popular football clubs. As well as having the most famous players of the world's most famous football teams including Ronaldo, Zlatan Ibrahimović, Lionel Messi, Neymar and James Rodríguez as new customisable players, fans can also unlock their own players to customise how they play, which can unlock iconic player attributes such as pace, dribbling, strength, intelligence and more. The next generation of FIFA video game has been developed from the ground up to be played with a new input method using unique motion controlled controls. "The FIFA franchise has always been a game with authentic and challenging real-world gameplay. EA SPORTS has been exploring ways to enhance the experience with new technologies," said Aleks Sousa, FIFA Executive Producer. "This approach has brought about HyperMotion Technology, which allows us to make authentic gameplay even more natural, something we've always wanted to do. We're thrilled that this technology will provide fans with a truly immersive experience." "We want to make a game that truly redefines what a realistic football simulation can look, feel and play like. And we think we've achieved just that with the addition of HyperMotion Technology and when combined with the True Player Motion Engine. It's the perfect marriage of technology and gameplay," added Andrew Bannister, Head of EA SPORTS FIFA World League. "There really is something for everyone with the FIFA 22 release and the FIFA Ultimate Team Community." The FIFA 22 launch has been completely redesigned to take advantage of HyperMotion Technology and TruePlayer Motion Engine, giving players the most
