KouChat is a software tool that was developed using Java programming language, in order to aid people in chatting with people in their local area network. Portability conveniences The installation process is not necessary, as this utility is portable. This means that if you place the program files to an external storage device (e.g. USB flash drive), you make it possible to take KouChat with you anywhere, and run it on the fly, on any PC you have been granted access to. Most importantly, you should know that the Windows registry and Start menu/screen are not going to suffer any changes, and no leftovers will be left behind. Clean UI The interface you are greeted by presents a simple a design which can only be described as being simple. It encompasses a menu bar, a few buttons and some panes which enable you to view a list of all connected people and the conversation taking place. Moreover, FAQs and “Tips&Tricks” are incorporated. As a result, it becomes quite clear that all types of users can learn how to get around it with ease. View commands, change status and send private messages From the settings panel, you can change your nickname, select a default web browser, change color themes used throughout the program, use another skin, enable sound, smileys, logging and balloon messages. It is possible to change the topic of the chat, clear all messages sent or received and set your status as “Away” and specify a reason. All commands available can be displayed in the main window with a click of the button, so that you can quickly figure out how to send private messages, show information about a user and accept or reject a file transfer. Conclusion All in all, KouChat proves to a simple, yet pretty handy piece of software, when it comes to communicating with others through a LAN connection. The resource requirement are quite minimal, the interface is intuitive and we did not register any kind of errors or crashes. Nonetheless, its lack of further options might ward off power users. So this is an update for it. Kouchat was a script that had to be installed on each and every computer you wanted to run it on. Which meant you had to contact everyone individually and download it. There is a simple way to do this, but you need to understand how to configure it. The reason I am making this software now is because I have been searching for an easy solution to it. And i have an e-mail address that i could use to help people on the internet with it. I have an e-mail address that I go by on my computer: zاميје@yahoo.com. The first step is to get the program. Go to www.koush.com/site and download the program. Then read the software.txt file for instructions about installing the program on your computer. A Note on Download Software: The software i have made will work on any computer that has Java installed in it. So no matter what Operating System you are using, you will be able to use this software. If you dont have Java, you can download it from www.koush.com/site and follow the instructions. The Software is PASTEBIN- You should place this in your Desktop once you have downloaded it.
