Jinx Editor is an advanced text editor for Windows. Jinx Editor is basically combination of Notepad++, MSYS and Vi, which reduces your work tremendously and gives you super fast and great text editing experience. Jinx Editor Description: IniWeblog is a scriptable winapi application for capturing all network events. You can install it to monitor your network and any network service running on your computer. It is easy to install and configure and can be used by itself, or as a part of a more complex setup. Network events include: - file download - server connection - ssh connection - ftp connection - telnet connection - smb connection - HTTP connection - DNS queries - ping - web browsing history - pop/mail/smtp - telnet activity IniWeblog allows you to capture connections, even if they are redirected through firewalls. You can use the application as: - a simple monitoring tool - A tool to capture a connection to a server for forensic purposes - A connection handler for a different program to analyze the captured event IniWeblog doesn't create any temporary files, nor does it write anything to the registry. Features: - Ability to capture TCP, UDP and ICMP events - Capture all connections, or only HTTP (finally!) - Automatically send events to any listening server - Send events to OSS (loggin) Service - Create a file with captured events - pHPpe.dll - PHP PHP Helper is a simple library to help you launch and run a php script, either as a web service or as a command line program. It is a single static binary (no installs, you just download a.rar archive) designed to be used on windows systems. So, what can it do? The PHP script can be executed directly or as a service with this library. Creating a batch file and launching it with this library is simple ; I am a software developer with a special interest in complex database integration applications. I also enjoy creating BNF grammars, parsing files and other types of advanced computer programming. Admin Tools Pro is the most sought-after Windows administration utility.
