Using layers _Layers_ are like sheets of paper in Photoshop. When you place an object on a layer, the object retains its size, color, and transparency. You can apply a variety of filter effects to layers. Layers give you another dimension for manipulating your images, so mastering layers is essential for mastering Photoshop. * * * # Making a conscious change The best way to get to know Photoshop is to dive right in and make a conscious change in one of your images. For example, I'd normally use the Levels adjustment (see the section "Adjusting color balance and exposure in Photoshop") to make small changes to the overall brightness of an image. After changing the levels in an image and seeing the effect, I normally go back and look at the other adjustments in the various sliders to try to identify what the effect was and why I made that change. * * * You place a new object on a layer by specifying the layer name using the Layer dialog box, which is covered in the following section. (The method of positioning the image on a layer is covered in the section "Placing an image on a layer.")

An autopsy on a Mountjoy Prison inmate who died in custody last week has revealed that he was strangled to death. Kevin Raftery, 37, a dual citizen from Ireland, was one of three prisoners to die in the Dublin prison in the last two weeks. Kevin Raftery. Mr Raftery from Thomond, Co Limerick, was serving a 20-year sentence for possessing €100 worth of cannabis. The highly-skilled mechanic had recently been working at the local Owen Wood plant, where he was on an assembly line. His body was found at Mountjoy Prison Hospital at 2.48pm on Wednesday, May 13. Kevin's mother, Mariska Raftery, told the Irish Independent she was "absolutely devastated" to hear the news. "He was a loving and devoted son, husband and father. The most amazing and talented person I've ever known. He was my pride and joy. He had a full and happy life before he went to prison," she said. "This has been an absolutely horrific and devastating time for Kevin and our family. Kevin had the life taken away from him in the most brutal way. "We did not want Kevin to go to prison. He was diagnosed with cancer six months before he entered prison. We pleaded with the judge and the PSNI not to send him there, but we were in no position to stop it. "We were given a date and now, I can't believe it has finally happened. We cannot get the past few weeks back. "We are now concentrating on the funeral arrangements. My family and friends are also devastated. I pray for strength for Kevin's family." Mr Raftery's sister Mairead Madden, who lives in Ennis, County Clare, said she is travelling to Dublin to be at his funeral. "I'm devastated to hear the news of his passing. I have very fond memories of Kevin. "It's the hardest thing that has happened to me and my family. We have so many fond memories of Kevin. He was a lovely brother, a lovely son, a lovely father and a lovely husband." Mr Raftery was found dead just a few hours after an "unknown number" of prisoners staged a cell-block protest about their welfare conditions. The details of his death were not made public until hours after his body was taken to Dublin's mort

The previous article presented a new tool designed to guide nurses in their investigations and care of nursing patients. Although the Nursing Diagnosis tool is new, it is based on the most recent and traditional concepts and theories of nursing, particularly on the Humanbecoming theory of Attwood. The Nursing Diagnosis concept is the particular contribution of the Czech nursing science to the theoretic and practical care of nursing patients. The nursing diagnosis concept was developed to describe all aspects of nursing practice that could be an indication for nursing intervention.Zazie De Menthe Zazie De Menthe is a restaurant in the 5th arrondissement of Paris, at 31 rue du Bac.
