Even though Elements is a free program, you can upgrade your editing power to the full version, Photoshop CS4 Elements ($29.99). You can use Elements to edit photographs, videos, and graphics, all without additional software. Elements works with all the same file formats that Photoshop does, including both Photoshop and Photoshop Elements (.PSD and.PSE). Photoshop Elements 10 ($29.99) offers the following editing tools: Photo Adjustments tool This tool has an Auto Tone option, which analyzes a photograph and tells you what adjustments you can make to help it look more appealing. It has an Unsharp Mask filter and the brush tools, which can make large areas of the image look smoother. Adjustment Brush If you're looking for selective adjustments, the Adjustment Brush is a powerful tool. It lets you apply settings on an image and just paint out the adjustments you want, using any color in the image. It can even modify shadows and highlights or adjust brightness and contrast. Smudge Tool This tool can smear colors over a section of an image. The Smudge tool works on only the active layer. In order to store and protect the foregoing items, shelves are generally available as purchased and used by a purchaser. These shelves are typically shipped to the purchaser as a relatively large quantity of single-use shelves. Often times, for each shelf that is packaged, four to six loose screws are packed and bundled together. When the purchaser receives the shelf, the purchaser must actually spend a significant amount of time locating and installing the loose screws. While these screws, being separate items, may appear to the purchaser to be relatively small, it is quite often the case that the screws are loose and even misplaced once the shelf is at or near its final installation location. Further, once installed, these screws are generally of a particular size, and can only be used to attach the shelf to only one particular type of support structure. As a result, it is quite common for the user to own a particular screw size and end up having to purchase the shelf in a lesser quantity, or wait to purchase it until a particular type of screw head is available. Further, once a screw is installed, the shelf is typically loosely secured, and the shelf must be further secured using a separate fastener such as a nut, cotter pin, or the like. Another problem that is associated with conventional shelving techniques is that the screws used in the fastening of the shelf, or shelf support screws, are individually packaged. Thus, the screws are generally packaged and shipped loose. When the shelves are at their final location, the loose screws are removed from the shipping container and individually installed on the shelf. This is time-consuming and inefficient. The screws also have a tendency to fall out of the packaging, which once again presents a great waste of the customer's time. In an attempt to overcome the deficiencies of the prior art, U.S. Pat. No. 6,327,849, issued to Hong, discloses an Artistic Shelving Display Structure. U.S. Pat. No. 6,327,849 is comprised of a plurality of interconnected shelf sections. The connecting feature of the shelf sections is formed through the use of plastic fasteners such as threaded screws, rivets, and cotter pins. A wall is provided that includes a plurality of rectangular notches. The notches are used for the connection of the shelf sections and the shelves provided therewith. Each shelf section has a built-in bottom slat or shelf support surface, and each shelf section is fastened to the wall using the corresponding rectangular notch.

Q: Range of integral in percentage of it's domain What is the range of the integral $$\int_{-1}^{1}\frac{\cos{(nx)}}{n^{\beta}} dx$$ where $n\in\mathbb{N}$ and $\beta>1$. I wonder if it is convergent for all n or in all n, if not which of them are "interesting" cases. The question arises from this solution to an exercise I posted here. A: The integrand is dominated by $$\frac{e^{-\pi nx}}{n^\beta},$$ which goes to 0 exponentially fast as $n\to\infty$ for every x. A: Note that $$\cos(nx)=\frac{1}{2}(e^{inx}+e^{-inx}) \ge \frac{1}{2}(e^{inx}+e^{$$ $-inx)=\frac{1}{2}(1+\cos(2x))=\frac{1+\cos(2x)}{2}$$ $$\implies \int_{-1}^{1}\frac{\cos(nx)}{n^\beta}dx \ge \int_{-1}^{1}\frac{\frac{1+\cos(2x)}{2}}{n^\beta}dx=\frac{1}{2n^\beta}\int_{-1}^{1}(1+\cos(2x))dx=\frac{1}{2n^\beta}\int_{-1}^{1}(1+2\cos(2x))dx$$

$$=\frac{1}{2n^\beta}\left[2\sin(2x)|_{-1}^{1}+2\int_{-1}^{1}\cos(2x)dx\right]=\frac{1}{n^\beta}\left[\frac{2}{n}(1-\frac{1}{2n})+2\frac{2}{n}\left[\frac{x}{2n}\right]_0^1-2\int_{-1}^{1}\frac{x}{2n}dx\right]\\=\frac{1}{$
