A lot of them use Facebook to login (which is weird because Facebook uses OAuth and the normal login routes)... Also, every morning at 8:00, I can see a bunch of people with an ssh text message. It has the IP of a computer, the user name, and the message is something along the lines of:You have just logged in.I tried to set up SSH tunneling but i cant get it to work. I would love to be able to remote in and remove all these messages. I haven't been able to figure out the IPs or how they get the pass words...Any suggestions? Any free websites I can access to try and figure this out? I tried to do some tests on my mac but I have no clue where the IPs are. ===== wmil I know I can do that with the sshuttle command. If it's a standard set of protocols, you can use socat. Patellar tendon reconstruction following achilles tendon rupture. The ideal treatment of an Achilles tendon rupture still remains a contentious issue. We believe that the best results will be obtained using reconstructive procedures, rather than the gold standard of a primary tendon reconstruction. Consequently, the goal of this study was to review the long-term results of patients undergoing patellar tendon reconstruction as an alternative to a primary Achilles reconstruction following an acute rupture. Thirty-four patients who had undergone patellar tendon reconstruction as an alternative to primary Achilles tendon reconstruction following an acute rupture were followed for a minimum of 8 years. No patient had a successful primary achilles tendon 6d1f23a050
