The zebrafish (Danio rerio) has been demonstrated to display a rapid, generalizable and consistent innate aversion to heterospecifics and conspecific juveniles that share group water (e.g. same natal cage). We tested whether zebrafish display analogous behavioural responses to a heterospecific juvenile that shares their natal cage (the ototoxicant methallyltetrazolium; MTZ), and compared these with their innate aversion to conspecifics. Zebrafish avoided MTZ-treated conspecifics more readily than saline-treated conspecifics, and more readily than MTZ-treated heterospecifics, but did not display a consistent preference for any adult group member. When given a choice between MTZ- and saline-treated conspecifics, zebrafish preferred the saline-treated conspecifics for the duration of the 3min test. Zebrafish displayed a strong aversion to MTZ-treated conspecifics and MTZ-treated heterospecifics, but only a limited aversion to saline-treated conspecifics. Our findings demonstrate that zebrafish display a rapid, generalizable and consistent response to a heterospecific juvenile and indicate that this is not an innate response specific to an MTZ-treated conspecific.Q: Using onmouseout to remove text and remove the 'hovering' of an image i've always wanted to know how to remove text from and image onmouseout on mousedown. The problem i have is that i don't want to remove the text permanently so the hover effect (via :hover) stays intact. but if the user hovers a link "forever" that is without moving a single pixel of their hand, i want the text to go away. i don't want to use JQuery for this since that is against the order or seo. i also don't want to use javascript but that is just another preference.
