But what about in the photography department? Do the iPhone or the HTC One really come out on top? We compare the most popular smartphones on the market side by side and find out. HTC One: The design Both the HTC One and the iPhone 5 are really sleek and compact, with the first thing that comes to mind being the way the curved back of the device. The rest of the phone is quite similar to the iPhone in design, and both have similar screen displays, with the exception of the HTC One's display having a larger diagonals of 2.3 inches. Both phones have great camera sensors, and both have front facing cameras with a 1.2megapixel wide-angle lens. The battery life The HTC One comes with a larger battery, with an advertised total life of about 16 hours of talk time and 24 hours of internet browsing. The iPhone 5 has a battery life of about 10 hours of talk time and 15 hours of internet browsing, which is slightly lower than the HTC One's battery life. Reception Both phones are both water resistant, with the HTC One having a slightly better reputation when it comes to reception. The HTC One, on average, has a bit of a better signal in some parts of the country, but it is slightly lower in other parts of the country. iPhone 5: The Design The design of the iPhone 5 is simple and minimalistic, which makes it one of the cleanest looking phones on the market today. It also has a sleek design, which makes it easy to hold and operate. The display The display of the iPhone 5 is a 4-inch display with a resolution of 640 by 960 pixels, which is the same as the display that comes on the HTC One. The iPhone 5 also has a 3.5 megapixel rear facing
