Jar files are from my research, and I was given the jar files by my Mimaki dealer, so they probably know more about the Mimaki than I do. I use everything that they have if I can and they charge me not to use anything else. Well, I guess the Mimaki dealer may have another version but it may not work the same. Have fun and good luck. The Files are in place so next time you start Rasterlink you will see the print job status of that Job in the list, as well as the print dialog. If you start from the menu, you need to Select a specific Printer (eg. LX-R 400) and then there should be no list of Jobs and your Job will be in the list of Jobs for that Printer. So I've been given a Mimaki RLP 5 Pro printer and I am trying to install the software. I've updated my printer and got the RLP pro installed on my main computer. I've also tried the trial copy and installed that on my laptop. But when I try to open RLP 5, it can't find the installed program. the error message is "Could not find C:\ittoolkitweb service in the specified location. Make sure the Web Service provided by the RLP Web Service Installer is installed in the correct location. If you can please help Hi all, I used to printing with Versaworks on a Roland, now I have to use a Mimaki CJV-30 130 and the CUT that came with it sucks. (Mimaki Rasterlink Pro 5 SG). I don't like the workflow of Rasterlink at aAll, but the register marks acknowledgment and the huge 2l printer ink packs are usually great on the Mimaki. What would become in your guys opinion the greatest RIP for that machine that can print AND Cut in go as I do mostly labels and stickers. Try to ask your Mimaki dealer about upgrading to Rasterlink Pro 6 and the price of that. I already tried RL6 beta and it looks fine to me.

Thank you for all your help, it was very much appreciated. With your help, I was able to upgrade to the new Mimaki Finecuts, it worked flawlessly. I have Raster Link 5.01 on my machine and the Raster Link 8 works great. Thanks again! Thanks for all your help, it was very much appreciated. With your help, I was able to upgrade to the new Mimaki Finecuts, it worked flawlessly. I have Raster Link 5.01 on my machine and the Raster Link 8 works great. Thanks again! Hello all. I tried to upgrade my old RasterLink 5.1 with the original Mimaki disc in my new computer. So I started the installation and gave all info, no problem. It starts and the link is printed on the preview. But when I try to print a label I am told the license does not exist anymore. After a few tries I tried to use the initial folder for the new RasterLink and the disc changed as I was told and installed fine. Well after that I tried to use the preview to print another label and get a completely different license. Same with OCR, I can send the text to the cloud and change, but the preview does not change and won't print.
