Reset Epson Nx430

I purchased an Epson Stylus NX430 Wireless All-in-one printer in 2012. I decided to add it to the family printer in mid 2016. I have at least a week of print time each month. I have rarely had any print issues over that time. Had the same issue with my Epson inkjet unit WIFI. Had to reset it 3 times in quick succession to get working again. I had to re-install the drivers too. Also added the software to WiFi documents and a new printer drivers. I would have thought it would be in the Epson software or the manual but nope. I got the printer 2 years ago. I don't know what the problem with it is. But last week, the light on the printer was blinking constantly. I had to reset it. Then it stopped working again. Reset it again. Reset it again. Printer still wouldn't connect to it. Reset it again and it's connected! I am trying to do a reset of my Inkjet Epson NX 430 printer but when I restart the printer it's still trying to connect to the computer. When I press the connection button it looks like it's connected it's lit up and is flashing and it says connected but it just won't print anything. What is this happening??
