the same year in december, alex kuznetsov and alex lavin discovered an information leak from wincc simatic v7.0 and discovered the information leak with a buffer overflow vulnerability. the vulnerability was fixed by siemens in the version 7.1.0. the same year in december, david bennett, a security researcher at rapid7, reported a remote code execution vulnerability in siemens wincc simatic v7.0. he exploited the vulnerability by uploading a specially crafted file to a web server, and the web server then stored the uploaded file to a location from which wincc simatic would download the file. the remote code execution vulnerability in wincc simatic v7.0 can be exploited by an attacker to execute arbitrary code on the target system. we strongly suggest administrators review the advisory and make sure all wincc simatic v7.0 devices are patched. simatic wincc is the market leader in scada systems. it is a sap foundation solution and is used in production environments all over the world. more than 25 million simatic wincc systems are installed worldwide. the siemens simatic wincc management suite is part of the complete siemens scada system and connects siemens scada systems and simatic wincc from the next generation. it provides single-click access to siemens scada functions in the simatic wincc management system. the primary function of the siemens simatic wincc management suite is to manage siemens scada systems. this includes communication functions, configuration, maintenance and provisioning, as well as the remote control of scada and simatic wincc systems.

Siemens Simatic WinCC V7.0 SP3 Update 1 Update 2 [Update Only]

simatic wincc supports multiple languages and the international community. the software is available in english, french, german, spanish, japanese and chinese. so you can choose your language of preference. in addition to the operating system it is based on the siemens simatic libraries. the simatic libraries are licensed under a free license. therefore, you can use them for the development of your own application. the simatic wincc is part of the simantic product family. the simantic family is integrated into the hmi, or human machine interface, component. the tia portal allows you to connect a tia (tubular industrial automation) interface to the simatic wincc. all simatic wincc modules are available in a wincc-engineering (exe) version as well as in a simatic wincc-technical (tia) version. the tia version is based on standardized technical interfaces to facilitate the integration of the tia portal. the exe version can be integrated into the operating system of the simatic wincc and can be used for runtime monitoring. for the deployment of an efficient application and a user-friendly interface wincc-engineering is the prerequisite. the availability of the simatic wincc-engineering has been extended for the new generation of the wincc-engineering. the new generation wincc-engineering has been implemented on the basis of the it-standardization and therefore is compliant to the latest new european regulations. the new version of wincc-engineering is available for the current operating system version from windows vista upwards. updates are not automatically applied. you have to download the update manually and install it. you should save the updated wincc engine to the following folder: “%windir%\temp\wincc_sp3\wincc_engine_win64”. if you have more than one wincc, the updated wincc can be found in the folder “%windir%\temp\wincc_sp3\wincc_engine”. 5ec8ef588b
