FBI: Two Boston bombs were created with pressure cookers Two bombs were detonated near the finish line of the Boston Marathon, leaving three people dead and injuring 260 others. The bombs were homemade, in backpacks with liquid explosives. A mixture of black powder and C4 explosives were found. Police have found a reason for the bombings. FBI Director Robert Mueller announced that it was a self-described terrorist who planted the bombs. Press Secretary Jay Carney said, "No other information is being released at this time." President Obama described the event as a "despicable act," and he asked for thoughts and prayers for those affected by the bombing. He issued a warning to the terrorist that he or she will not escape the United States justice system. "We are going to work together with all our available federal resources, including our state and local partners to find those responsible for the terrible act and to bring them to justice," he said. The FBI is offering a $25,000 reward for information on who planted the bombs. They also found a possible motive from a victim who survived the bombings, who said one of the bombs was detonated after his foot was run over. "I think people have been targeted because they're from different ethnicities," one runner said. "It just seems like the bombers are just after the blacks and the Mexicans and the foreigners," said another witness. "So they're just targeting foreigners? That's terrible," added another witness. There are reports that another device may have been found, and the FBI is continuing to investigate.Q: If  $A_{1}^{1} = A_{1}^{1} = A_{1}^$
